My OHAG Job – by Seema Gupta. My job at OHAG has been a mixed bag of responsibilities over the last six years. When I started in April of 2016, I was doing a press release for every exhibit at the Gallery, and for every program of the Guild. As of 2019, the publicity for the Gallery Exhibits is handled by the City, making my task more manageable. Now I take care of publicity for the Guild-related activities and exhibits, including Juried Members' Show, the Holiday Gala, Scholarships, and such. As needed, I write the press release for these events and coordinate with Tri-City Voice for publication. Additionally, I am responsible for sending out e-blasts to the Guild members via MailChimp, for Program announcements, Newsletter links, Gallery Reception information, and Reminders, etc. often supplied by the Program Chairs and their respective committees.

Olive Hyde Art Gallery Curator Sana Chiang and the new Sidewalk Chalkboard!

The sidewalk chalkboard sends a friendly message that the "Gallery is Open" and welcomes passers-by to come in. The chalkboard, a gift to the Gallery from Olive Hyde Art Guild, will be set out whenever the art gallery is open.

President’s Message

Hello Everyone,

The Thanksgiving Holiday is just about here and what a perfect time to thank all of you for your valuable contributions to Olive Hyde Art Guild. Whether it be through your valued membership, for your help and efforts on special projects, or for your service as a Chair Person or Officer on the OHAG Board, the Guild could not exist without you!

We’re on a break now, so there won’t be another newsletter or another board meeting until January. You are welcome to a little time off from OHAG business so please enjoy!

I extend my warmest wishes to all of you and to our COF/Rec partners Irene Jordahl, Gloria Kim and Sana Chiang for a wonderful Thanksgiving, a beautiful Holiday Season, and a very Happy New Year.

Thank you again, and again, and again!

Judy Anglin, President
